DNPAO’s Racial and Ethnic Approaches to Community Health (REACH) Program

The REACH program is one of the only CDC programs that explicitly focuses on improving chronic diseases for specific racial and ethnic groups in urban, rural, and tribal communities with high disease burden.

31 organizations across the country will address racial and ethnic health disparities.

This program will aim to improve health, prevent chronic diseases, and reduce health disparities among racial and ethnic populations with the highest risk, or burden, of chronic disease.

DNPAO’s High Obesity Program (HOP)

Funded Recipients (Fiscal Year 2018)

- 15 land grant universities will leverage community extension services to increase access to healthier foods and opportunities for physical activity in counties that have more than 40% of adults with obesity.
- Residents of these communities may have less access to healthy foods and fewer opportunities to be physically active.
- Recipients will implement evidence-based strategies to increase access to healthier foods and to safe places for physical activity through existing cooperative extension and outreach services.

DNPAO’s State Physical Activity and Nutrition Program (SPAN)

• 16 state and local recipients across the country will strengthen state and local efforts to implement interventions that support healthy nutrition, safe and accessible physical activity, and breastfeeding.

• This program will support state investments that benefit the whole state and that allow recipients to leverage public health systems at multiple levels, including local government.
